About the program: The New Mexico House Democratic Campaign supports and coordinates the most competitive campaigns for the New Mexico House of Representatives. We are seeking creative problem solvers, innovative thinkers, and others interested in politics to build the skillsets and knowledge to be able to earn an entry-level position on a campaign team in 2022 or future cycles.

The Fellowship Program will be taught by skilled professionals with years of experience across local, state and federal political campaigns. The program will feature guest speakers from across the political world, including elected officials, giving Fellows access to highly experienced professionals and the knowledge they can provide.

The Fellowship Program will focus on critical aspects of campaign operations including, but not limited to, strategy and planning, data analysis, research & polling, finance & fundraising, voter contact programs, elections administration, social media management, and communications and advertising.

Applicants should send a resume and cover letter to walter@nmhdcc.com to be considered for the program. Cover letters should convey your interest in fighting for core Democratic values.
